Summary of historical account, acknowledgements, and apology of the Crown

7 Summary of historical account, acknowledgements, and apology

- (1) Section 8 summarises in English and te reo Māori the historical account in the deed of settlement, setting out the basis for the acknowledgements and apology.
- (2) Sections 9 and 10 record in English and te reo Māori the text of the acknowledgements and apology given by the Crown to Ngāti Hauā in the deed of settlement.
- (3) The acknowledgements and apology are to be read together with the historical account recorded in part 2 of the deed of settlement.

8 Summary of historical account

- (1) During the 1840s and 1850s, Ngāti Hauā established a strong economy centred on the thriving Christian community of Peria. Their rangatira Wiremu Tamehana sought a constructive relationship with the Crown on issues of Māori governance. However, his attempts to engage with the Crown left him dissatisfied, and he supported the establishment of a Māori King to provide order and laws within Māori communities. He anointed the first Māori King, giving rise to the position of Tumuaki, a role of political and spiritual significance that endures to the present day.
- (2) Relations between the Crown and the Kīngitanga deteriorated over the early 1860s. In July 1863, Crown forces invaded the Waikato. As part of the Kīngitanga, Ngāti Hauā opposed the invasion of 1863 and 1864, and many were killed or wounded. The February 1864 attack by Crown forces on the unfortified agricultural settlement of Rangiaowhia aggrieved Wiremu Tamehana, who understood it should be a place of refuge for women, children, and the elderly.
- (3) In 1865, the Crown confiscated a large area of Waikato land, including the western part of the Ngāti Hauā rohe. The raupatu caused destitution within the Ngāti Hauā rohe and was a critical step towards Ngāti Hauā being left virtually landless.
- (4) In May 1865 at Tamahere, Wiremu Tamehana laid his taiaha at the feet of a British officer and signed te maungarongo (the covenant of peace). Until his death in 1866, he sought the return of the confiscated Waikato lands and an investigation into the causes of the war. In the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, his son Tupu Taingakawa continued to seek justice in his role as Tumuaki (Premier) of Te Kauhanganui.

- (5) From 1866, the Native Land Court operated within the Ngāti Hauā rohe, determining the owners of Māori land and converting customary title into title derived from the Crown. Legislation in force until 1873 limited the ownership of any land block to 10 or fewer individuals. Large areas of land awarded to Ngāti Hauā by the Court were sold by the individual owners, who could alienate their interests without reference to other members of their hapū or iwi. By the 1880s, private parties had acquired a large quantity of Ngāti Hauā land.
- (6) Crown purchasing activity further reduced Ngāti Hauā land holdings. In the early twentieth century, the Crown purchased the interests of some individual owners in the Matamata North block, having disregarded the owners' collective decision not to sell.
- (7) Ngāti Hauā lost further land in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries through public works takings for roading, railways, schools, and hydro-electric purposes. Ngāti Hauā have a longstanding grievance relating to the Crown's public works taking of land at Waharoa for aerodrome purposes in 1951. Pākehā settlement and colonisation resulted in significant changes to the landscape and waterways within the Ngāti Hauā rohe.
- (8) Ngāti Hauā consider that Crown actions and omissions since 1840 have caused them enduring harm. Today, the iwi is virtually landless.

9 Acknowledgements

- (1) In the Waikato-Tainui Deed of Settlement and the Waikato Raupatu Claims Settlement Act 1995, the Crown acknowledged the grave injustice of its actions during the Waikato War of 1863–1864 upon 33 groups descending from the Tainui waka, including Ngāti Hauā. In particular, the Crown acknowledged that its representatives and advisers acted unjustly and in breach of the Treaty of Waitangi in its dealings with the Kīngitanga, which included Ngāti Hauā, in sending its forces across the Mangatawhiri River in July 1863, and in occupying and subsequently confiscating land in the Waikato region, and that these actions resulted in Ngāti Hauā being unfairly labelled as rebels.
- (2) In the Waikato-Tainui Waikato River Deed of Settlement signed in 2009 and the Waikato-Tainui Raupatu Claims (Waikato River) Settlement Act 2010, the Crown acknowledged that—

- (a) in occupying and subsequently confiscating Waikato land, it unjustly, and in breach of the Treaty of Waitangi, denied the hapū of Waikato-Tainui, including Ngāti Hauā, their rights and interests in, and mana whakahaere over, the Waikato River; and
 - (b) for Waikato-Tainui, including Ngāti Hauā, their relationship with, and respect for, the Waikato River gives rise to their responsibilities to protect the mana and mauri of the River and exercise their mana whakahaere in accordance with their long-established tikanga; and
 - (c) the deterioration of the health of the Waikato River, including Ngāti Hauā, while under the authority of the Crown, has been a source of distress for the people of Waikato-Tainui; and
 - (d) the Crown respects the deeply felt obligation of Waikato-Tainui, including Ngāti Hauā, to protect te mana o te awa.
- (3) The Crown hereby recognises those grievances and acknowledges that it has failed for many years to deal with the remaining long-standing grievances of Ngāti Hauā in an appropriate way and that recognition of those grievances is long overdue. Accordingly, it now makes the following further acknowledgements.
- (4) The Crown acknowledges—
 - (a) that Ngāti Hauā suffered a prolonged period of disruption during the armed conflicts of the 1860s, suffering loss of life during the First Taranaki War of 1860–1861, and the Waikato War of 1863–1864; and
 - (b) that after the Crown invaded the Waikato in 1863, many Ngāti Hauā were drawn into armed conflict in defence of Kīngitanga lands through their involvement in the Kīngitanga; and
 - (c) the sense of grievance felt by Ngāti Hauā when Crown forces attacked and burned the agricultural settlement of Rangiaowhia on 21 February 1864. Women and children of Ngāti Hauā were present at Rangiaowhia when Crown forces attacked the settlement; and
 - (d) that, as part of its military operations during the Waikato War, Crown forces occupied land in the Ngāti Hauā rohe, including sites of significance to Ngāti Hauā; and
 - (e) that Ngāti Hauā suffered significant economic loss and social disruption when it left its homes and cultivations in the aftermath of the Crown’s confiscation of Waikato land in 1864; and
 - (f) the sense of grievance suffered and the distress caused to generations of Ngāti Hauā who felt the iwi and its leaders, including Wiremu Tamehana, were unfairly considered to be rebels during the 1860s.
- (5) The Crown has previously recognised that the Kīngitanga continued to sustain the people since the raupatu, and its leaders have petitioned the Crown for justice and for the return of land since 1865. The Crown particularly acknowledges the despair and frustration it caused Wiremu Tamehana and Ngāti Hauā because it did not agree to Tamehana's requests to establish an inquiry into the causes of the war and to return to Ngāti Hauā all of the lands it had confiscated.

- (6) The Crown acknowledges that—
- (a) it did not consult Ngāti Hauā about the introduction of the native land laws; and
 - (b) the resulting individualisation of land tenure was inconsistent with Ngāti Hauā tikanga; and
 - (c) the operation and impact of the native land laws, in particular the award of land to individual Ngāti Hauā and the enabling of individuals to deal with that land without reference to iwi or hapū, made those lands more susceptible to partition, fragmentation, and alienation. This undermined the traditional tribal structures, mana, and rangatiratanga of Ngāti Hauā, which were based on collective tribal and hapū custodianship of the land. The Crown failed to protect those collective tribal structures, which had a prejudicial effect on Ngāti Hauā and was a breach of the Treaty of Waitangi and its principles.
- (7) The Crown acknowledges that,—
- (a) between 1866 and 1873, Ngāti Hauā were awarded interests in several land blocks in the names of only 10 owners who were able to act as absolute owners, rather than for or on behalf of Ngāti Hauā; and
 - (b) by 1884, some owners of Matamata, Puketutu, and Hinuera 1 sold their interests against the wishes of the other owners; and
 - (c) by allowing these individuals to sell Ngāti Hauā land in these blocks, the native land legislation did not reflect the Crown's obligation to actively protect the interests of Ngāti Hauā in these blocks, and this was a breach of the Treaty of Waitangi and its principles.
- (8) The Crown acknowledges that, in purchasing over 1 400 acres of Matamata North between 1918 and 1930 from individuals, it disregarded the collective decision of the Ngāti Hauā owners not to sell their land, and that this was a breach of the Treaty of Waitangi and its principles.
- (9) The Crown acknowledges that the cumulative effect of the Crown's actions and omissions, particularly its confiscation of Ngāti Hauā land after the Waikato War, the operation and impact of its native land laws, Crown and private purchasing, and takings under public works legislation, has left Ngāti Hauā virtually landless. The Crown's failure to ensure Ngāti Hauā had sufficient land for their present and future needs was a breach of the Treaty of Waitangi and its principles.
- (10) The Crown acknowledges that Ngāti Hauā experienced land loss as a result of takings by the Crown for public works, including lands taken for railway purposes in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

- (11) The Crown acknowledges that—
- (a) it did not consult Ngāti Hauā before surveying their land at Waharoa for a military aerodrome in 1942. The aerodrome was retained for civil purposes after World War II; and
 - (b) the Ngāti Hauā owners objected to the Crown taking the aerodrome land under public works legislation in 1951, on the basis that they had a strong understanding that the land would be returned to them at the end of the war; and
 - (c) to this day, the Waharoa land has remained alienated, and this has been an ongoing source of grievance and sorrow for the original owners and their descendants and for Ngāti Hauā as a whole.
- (12) The Crown acknowledged, in the Waikato-Tainui Waikato River Deed of Settlement signed in 2009 and the Waikato-Tainui Raupatu Claims (Waikato River) Settlement Act 2010, that the hapū of Waikato-Tainui, including Ngāti Hauā, were denied rights and interests in, and mana whakahaere over, the Waikato River. The Crown hereby recognises those grievances, and also acknowledges—
- (a) that the development of hydroelectric dams on the parts of the Waikato River within the rohe of Ngāti Hauā has been a source of great distress to Ngāti Hauā and has resulted in the submerging of an urupā reserve containing precious tapu rocks dating back to the battle of Taumatawii-wii.
- (13) The Crown acknowledges that, over time, Ngāti Hauā have lacked opportunities for economic, social, and cultural development and that, in many cases, this has had a detrimental effect on their material, cultural, and spiritual well-being.

10 Apology

- (1) The Crown makes this apology to Ngāti Hauā, to their ancestors, and to their descendants—
- (a) the Crown is deeply sorry for its breaches of the Treaty of Waitangi and its principles, which have left Ngāti Hauā virtually landless. The Crown profoundly regrets that the loss of land has undermined the social and traditional structures of Ngāti Hauā, and your ability to exercise customary rights and responsibilities over resources and sites of significance in your rohe; and

- (b) the Crown recognises that the burden of pursuing justice for the Crown's wrongs has been the work of generations of Ngāti Hauā. Wiremu Tamehana began Ngāti Hauā's pursuit of justice, and his petitions speak to this day of the great prejudice Ngāti Hauā suffered at the hands of the Crown. Since the days of Wiremu Tamehana and his son Tupu Tainga-kawa, your iwi has a long tradition of seeking a meaningful relationship with the Crown in accordance with the Treaty of Waitangi and its principles; and
- (c) the Crown has for too many years failed to respond to your grievances in an appropriate and meaningful way, and profoundly apologises for its past failures to acknowledge the mana and rangatiratanga of Ngāti Hauā and its leaders; and
- (d) the Crown sincerely hopes this settlement will mark the beginning of a new relationship between the Crown and Ngāti Hauā founded on mutual trust, co-operation, and respect for the Treaty of Waitangi and its principles.
